

THE SHOPPING MALL SONG

WRITERS; Tommy Roe
PUBLISHER; ROEBOAT MUSIC

Sitting here by myself, in this shopping mall
Just looking at the ladies passing by
Some are short, some are plump, some are tall, and some are slim,
But you know it doesn't matter cause, I like all of them

Now each one, has her own, way of walking
Makes me wonder, what it's like to hold her close
Some will sashay, some will waddle, some I'd swear, she was a him
But you know it doesn't matter cause, I like all of them

You know, girls just turn me on,
And it's been like this, so long,
And I'll never change my ways,
So I sit here and, I gaze

One day, this young lady, said to me
Hey mister, can I sit here next to you
I've been watching, you watch the ladies,
She said, I do that to men
And you know it don't matter cause, I like all of them

She said, men just turn me on,
And it's been like that, for so long,
And I'll never change my ways,
So lets sit here and, we'll gaze
